I. Scale Description

The Self Report of Close Friends measure is a 41-item instrument developed for the Seattle Social Development Project (O'Donnell, Hawkins, & Abbott, 1995). The revised version of this measure was added to the child instrument battery in study Year 8. The measure assesses characteristics of students' best friends relationships. Students are asked to identify two best friends and answer questions regarding thoughts and feelings about the friend, commitment to the friend, and behaviors by the friend including delinquency, substance use, school motivation and parental attitudes toward the friend. Students are also asked to answer questions about these characteristics for their peer group in general.

II. Report Sample

Initial exploration was conducted on Year 8, Cohort 1 data (7th grade; the first year in which the instrument was used), including both high-risk control ($n = 155$) and normative samples ($n = 387$ including overlap, total $N = 463$); treatment students were not included. 96 students (21% of Cohort 1) were missing responses for the entire scale, including 82 normative students (21%) and 29 high-risk students (19%). The non-respondents included 33 students from the Durham site, 22 students from Nashville, 17 students from Pennsylvania, and 24 students from Seattle. In addition, 2 cases were missing responses for individual; these students were omitted from analyses requiring those responses.

III. Scaling

The items in this instrument can be grouped to assess four different constructs of children's friendships for their first and second best friends and their peer group in general (Bonding, Involvement, Good Behaviors, and Bad Behaviors). The Bonding scale assesses the level of bonding with the friend(s) and consists of the following items: 3R, 4R, 5R, 6R. The Involvement scale consists of a single item assessing whether the friend(s) try to involve the subject in risky behavior (12R). The Good Behaviors scale assesses good behaviors on the part of the friend(s) and consists of the following two items: 12R, 13R. The Bad Behaviors scale assesses bad behaviors on the part of the friend(s) and consists of the following five items: 7R, 8R, 9R, 10R, 11R. (Note that all items were reversed scored in order to indicate high levels of each of the particular scales). One item (Item 2) was not included in the construction of scales due to its small relationship with other items from the measure. Internal consistency of the scales for the first best friend were .77 for Bonding, .70 for Good Behaviors, and .82 for Bad Behaviors. Internal consistency of the scales for the second best friend were .82 for Bonding, .66 for Good Behaviors, and .81 for Bad Behaviors. Internal consistency of the scales for the peer group were .84 for Bonding, .74 for Good Behaviors, and .87 for Bad Behaviors.

Additionally, the intercorrelations for the scales among the two best friends and the peer group ranged from .42 to .57 for Bonding, .35 to .48 for Good Behaviors, .57 to .64 for Bad Behaviors, and .34 to .52 for Involvement. These analyses were based on responses by the total Cohort 1 sample, excluding intervention students ($n = 367$).

IV. Differences Between Groups

Differences between the high-risk control sample and the non-high-risk normative sample were assessed on the scales and the scale items individually, scanning for significant differences at the .05 level. T-tests were used to determine group differences for all scales and items.

Analysis of the individual items contrasting the high and low-risk groups (formed by kindergarten data) indicated the following about best friends: high-risk students were less likely to report (1) being highly bonded with their first best friend, (2) that they would stick with their first best friend no matter what, and (3) that their second best friend engaged in good behaviors.

High risk kids were also more likely to report (1) that their peer group tried to involve them in risky behavior and get them to do things that could get them in trouble (2) both of their best friends and their peer group engaged in bad behaviors, (3) that their two best friends and peer group got in trouble with the teachers and tried alcohol without their parents knowing, (4) that their second best friend and peer group had smoked cigarettes or used other tobacco products and gotten in trouble with the police in the past year, (5) that their parents did not approve of their second best friend or peer group, and (6) the high-risk children were more likely to report that their first best friend and peer group had used marijuana or other drugs in the past year.

No significant differences were found for reported bonding with the second best friend and the peer group, an attempt to involve them in risky behavior for the two best friends, or good behaviors for their first best friend and the peer group, or on other remaining items.

V. Recommendations for Use

Most items are straightforward in use and interpretation. The scale can be used in two ways. The first is to use the factors identified in this report. The second is to use individual items or create other scales.

Note: The data sets could only be compared for missing data information for Cohort 1, as information was not available for Cohorts 2 and 3 at the time of this report.

Also, it should be noted that there are 13 items that the subject answers for each of their best friends and their peer group. In the raw data set they are designated as follows: the items for the first best friend are followed by an 'A,' the items for the second best friend are followed by a 'B,' and the items for the peer group are followed by a 'C.'
